DESIGN A GAME

Hopefully you have been able to keep active whilst at home, either through your own activity or the Oxfordshire Hospital School Toky-home Olympics so far. If you have taken part in some of our Triathlon events you may have noticed that they are adapted from already known sports.

Now it's your turn!

Your challenge is to:

Design a fun game to get children active!

Think about:

- ✓ What you have played before – you could create something completely new or just adapt another sport or game you like.
- ✓ The equipment you will use – keep it simple, use basic equipment available at home.
- ✓ How to make it fun and imaginative – competition, forfeits, challenge
- ✓ How inclusive it is; can it be adapted for young people of different abilities? - Seated options, supported play, easier ways to score.
- ✓ What you will call it.

Once you have come up with a game idea, have a go! Don't be afraid to make little changes while playing if you want to.

As an added challenge, once you are happy with your final idea, you could design a poster or leaflet that explains the game and its rules, or create a video of how to play.
